Mark Greenhalgh is a long-time professional working with communities, organizations, venues, festival producers and music artists, providing a variety of services and consultation. Mark is a well-known face on the BC music and festival scene and has a personal network with key organizations and individuals garnered over 20 years. The work is connecting communities, artists, audiences and opportunities.

Based in Vancouver as a touring musician throughout the 80's and 90's, Mark has toured in Canada, the US, Mexico and Australia. Performing in both cover acts and original music projects. Mark also worked as a session player at many studios such as Little Mountain Sound, Ocean Sound and Mushroom Studios.

In the 2000's Mark began shifting focus to festival and music event development. Relocating to the Okanagan in 2002, he was co-producer of the BC Interior Music Awards for three years, and has sat on Jury panels for FACTOR, CARAS, and Breakout West.

At the centre of Marks' mandate with his company Misty Mountain Productions, is development of both artists and music events that offer support in the form of professional opportunity for emerging artists at the community and regional level by animating public spaces. He absolutely understands the importance of art, music, culture and creativity in effecting positive change and unity.

He is presently located in Penticton, BC where he operates his studio Misty Mountain Sound.
